Protections Under The Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013 (VAWA)

The Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) provides protections to women or men who are the victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and/or stalking – collectively referred to as VAWA crimes. The Kirkland Union Plaza Association dba Kirkland Union Plaza understands that, regardless of whether state or local laws protect victims of VAWA crimes, people who have been victims of violence have certain rights under federal fair housing regulation.

An applicant's status as a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking is not a basis for denial of admission, if the applicant otherwise qualifies for assistance or admission.

It is the policy of management to support or assist victims of VAWA crimes and protect victims from being denied housing or from losing their HUD-assisted housing as a consequence of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault or stalking. If you feel you are a victim, you are encouraged to contact management. You are entitled to a Certification of Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, Sexual Assault, or Stalking, form HUD-5382. ### Waiting List Policy

Due to the demand of subsidized housing this project maintains a Wait List(s). An applicant's name(s) are placed on the Wait List for the apartment size (1 bedroom) for which they qualify based on the number of people in the household. Additionally, a list is kept for those applicants who require a specifically designed mobility impaired unit.

The first list is for non-accessible units and includes those families in which the head of household, co-head or spouse is age sixty-two (62) or older. The second list is for mobility-accessible units and includes families in which the head of household, co-head or spouse is age sixty-two (62) or older or families in which the head of household, co-head or spouse, is non-elderly, mobility-impaired person. The Manor attempts to ensure that accessible units are occupied by persons who will benefit from their specific design.

When no mobility-impaired persons, or families in which at least one person is mobility-impaired, are on the wait list for an accessible unit, families on the wait list in which head of household, co-head or spouse is age sixty-two (62) or older, will be offered a mobility impaired, accessible unit.

In general one's place on the wait list is determined by the date and time on which all completed application materials are received at the Office; however, acceptance to the wait list does not automatically guarantee eligibility for residency. Apartments are rented to eligible persons in the order of receipt; however, occupancy standards and preferential treatment are applied to certain persons who meet one or more of the criteria set forth under our Preferences.

Preferences are applied only after a determination of initial eligibility under the admissions criteria.

When an apartment is available the wait list will be utilized. Office staff will attempt to contact an applicant(s) via telephone. If necessary, office staff will attempt to contact three (3) times via telephone, on three (3) different days. A person who is advised of an available apartment has 48 hours from receipt of the phone call to notify the office of their intention to accept or refuse the available apartment. If three (3) phone call attempts have not been successful a letter will be sent via US Postal Service notifying the applicant(s) of the available apartment. If no response is received seven (7) days from the date of the mailing the applicant(s) will be removed from the wait list. It is the applicant(s) responsibility to update their Application for Residency, contact information; telephone number and address, if they move or a change is made.

Any eligible person(s) who are advised either by telephone or US Postal Service of an available apartment and refuses (does not accept) a third time, for any reason, will be removed from the wait list. The applicant(s) may reapply at any time. However, their position on the wait list will be determined by the date and time their most recent application has been accepted.

We would not consider it to be multiple refusals if several apartments were available and the applicant refused all of them at the same time. If an apartment became available later, even if it's the next day, that would be considered a second refusal.

For example: Apartments 101, 102 and 103 are available. Office staff calls an applicant on the wait list on May 1st, to inquire if the applicant is interested in any of these apartments. The applicant cannot move. This is one refusal.

The next day, the office staff gets notice that unit 104 is moving out. On July 2nd a call is made to the applicant in the above scenario and say another apartment, besides what was referenced the previous day, is now coming open. The applicant again cannot move. This is the second refusal.

If applicants call to cancel, reschedule or do not show for their initial interview for a third time their name(s) will be removed from the wait list and will need to reapply. If applicants scheduled for a move-in appointment do not show they will be removed from the wait list and will need to reapply.

Wait list closure: The owner reserves the right to close the wait list when the owner's estimate the wait time exceeds sixty (60) months. If the owner closes the wait list, the owner will inform potential applicants that the waiting list is closed, will refuse to accept additional applications, and will publish a notice to that effect in the most prominent publication serving local seniors. The owner would reopen the list when placement estimates fall below thirty-six (36) months. The owner will inform potential applicants the waiting list is open by publishing a notice to that effect in the same prominent publication serving local seniors as when they closed the list. The notice will include information of where and when to apply, rules for applying, and the order in which applications will be processed.

Preferences

- 1.) Mobility-impaired persons who meet the definition of "handicapped" who already reside at Kirkland Union Plaza and who do not have a unit designed for handicapped occupants receive preference over non-resident applicants for such units
- 2.) Mobility-impaired persons who meet the definition of "handicapped" receive preference for units designed for handicapped occupants.
- 3.) Unit Transfers (see Unit Transfers next section).

Preferences can be cumulative and will supersede date and time placement on the wait list.

Unit Transfers

We allow for unit transfers for the following reasons:

- 1.) As a reasonable accommodation (See Reasonable Accommodation below). This request should be issued in writing. If you are unable to provide the request in writing, please notify management for assistance as possible.
- 2.) As an accommodation to an individual needing the benefit of an accessible unit designed for handicap/disability, a non-disabled person occupying that unit will sign an acknowledgement upon move-in and will be required to transfer to the next available unit should another resident or applicant request that accommodation.
- 3.) As a reasonable accommodation for an individual with a medical reason for a transfer (See Reasonable Accommodation below).
- 4.) The resident has requested and qualifies for a VAWA Emergency Transfer.

Tenants awaiting a transfer for any of the reasons above will be given priority above all applicants currently on the waiting list for the first unit to come available that will meet their request.

Reasonable accommodation requests must demonstrate: a.) an identifiable relationship, or nexus, between the requested accommodation and the individual's disability and b.) a benefit to the applicant to participate in the program, live in a dwelling, or to take advantage of the program services. Also it must not present an undue financial and/or administrative burden nor result in a fundamental alteration of the nature of the program.

Upon approval of a transfer request, those individuals in residence shall be given a preference to the next applicable available unit over non-resident applicants and in applicable chronological order with other residents requesting the same reasonable accommodations.

Reasonable Accommodations

A Reasonable Accommodation is a change, exception, or adjustment to a program, service, building, dwelling unit, or workplace that will allow a person with disability to participate in the program, to live in a dwelling unit, to take advantage of the program services, or to perform a job.

A Reasonable Accommodation request should be issued in writing. If you are unable to provide the request in writing, please notify management for assistance as possible.

A reasonable accommodation request must demonstrate: a.) a identifiable relationship, or nexus, between the requested accommodation and the individual's disability and b.) a benefit to the applicant to participate in the program, live in a dwelling, or to take advantage of the program services. Management does not provide reasonable accommodations when the request is a matter of convenience or preference only.

Management may reject a Reasonable Accommodation request if it presents an undue financial and/or administrative burden or results in a fundamental alteration of the nature of the program. Management reserves the right to propose alternative accommodations based upon availability.

We maintain a Reasonable Accommodation Policy. We will be happy to supply a copy upon request.

Electronic Income Verification (EIV) Screening

HUD provides the owner/agent with information about an applicant's current status as a HUD housing assistance recipient. The owner/agent will use the Enterprise Income Verification System (EIV) Existing Tenant Report to determine if the applicant or any member of the applicant household is currently receiving HUD assistance. Nothing prohibits a HUD housing assistance recipient from applying to this property. The applicant must move out of the current property and/or forfeit any voucher before HUD assistance on this property will begin.

If the applicant or any member of the applicant household fails to fully and accurately disclose rental history, the application may be denied based on the applicant's "misrepresentation" of information.

This information will be reviewed on an annual basis, at each annual certification. If any household member receives or attempts to receive assistance in another HUD assisted unit while receiving assistance on this property, the household member will be required to reimburse HUD for assistance paid in error. This is considered a material lease violation and may result in penalties up to and including eviction and pursuit of fraud charges.

The owner/agent will also review EIV Income Reports no more than 90 days after move in certifications are submitted to TRACS.

Social Security Number (SSN) Requirements

Effective January 31, 2010, all household members must provide:

1. The complete and accurate SSN assigned to each member of the applicant's household and
2. Documentation necessary to prove that the Social Security Number is accurate (verification)

For eligibility purposes, the requirement to disclose a Social Security Number is waived if no Social Security Number has been assigned and:

- A household member is 62 or older as of January 31, 2010 and eligibility determination started before January 31, 2010
- A household member is an ineligible non-citizen. This household member does not qualify for assistance therefore household assistance will be prorated.
- A child under the age of 6 years added to the applicant household within the 6-month period prior to the household's date of admission. The household will have a maximum of 90-days after the date of admission to provide the Social Security Number and adequate documentation that the Social Security Number is valid. An additional 90 days may be granted under certain circumstances. If the household does not provide the Social Security Number and adequate documentation to verify the Social Security Number within the prescribed timeframe, HUD requires that the owner/agent terminate tenancy.

Failure to provide a Social Security Number at application will not preclude placement to the waiting list provided all other wait list review items can be completed. If offered a unit, non-exempt applicants must provide a SSN to proceed. Applicants not providing a SSN at that time will have 90 days to provide a SSN or they will be removed from the wait list.

Residency cannot be obtained by non-exempt applicants without providing a SSN.

The owner/agent must deny and/or terminate HUD assistance, in accordance with the provisions governing the program, if the assistance applicant does not meet the applicable SSN disclosure, documentation, and verification requirements.

The Social Security Number provided will be compared to the information recorded in the Social Security Administration database (through HUD's Enterprise Income Verification (EIV) System) to ensure that the Social Security Number, birth date and last name match. If EIV returns an error that cannot be explained or resolved, assistance and/or tenancy may be terminated and any assistance paid in error must be returned to HUD.

If the applicant/resident deliberately provides an inaccurate Social Security Number, the owner/agent and/or HUD may pursue additional penalties due to attempted fraud.
